Hubbell Plays King Canute Role Against Yank Hitters

STAR OF TERRY TEAM TO PITCH AGAINST HADLEY

McCarthy's Clubbers May End Title Series With Saturday Victory

SOUTHPAW BEATEN ONCE

All Other Giant Tossers Treated Roughly

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—(UP)—

Like King Canute, who commanded the angry waves to stand still, Carl Hubbell goes to the mound at the Polo Grounds today in a desperate attempt to keep the Giants in the World Series.

The odds on Hubbell are about the same as they were on Canute, who, if you remember, got his feet wet.

The Yankees needed only today's game to sweep on to four straight World Series triumphs. They have beaten every pitcher Manager Bill Terry has sent against them; they have averaged seven runs a game; they have held the Giants to three runs in 27 innings.

Chewing a fat cigar, Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yankees reached far back into the rear row of his pitching strength and called on Bump Hadley, an in-and-outter all season, to start against the Giants.

Pitcher Doesn't Matter

What matters it, McCarthy reasoned, who pitches for the Yankees, so long as DiMaggio, Gehrig, Dickey and Co., are up there swinging?

The Yankees have scored enough runs in one inning of each game to beat the Giants. Their attack has rolled and roared like the surf on a storm-whipped beach.

And there stands King Canute Hubbell today, commanding the Yankee waves to stand still.

There he is, seeking to beat back the storm with the power of his bumpy-hipped left arm; trying to appease the roaring winds with a drifting, dippy-do screwball. Once before in this series he tried and took that long slow walk to the dugout with Yankee base hits ringing a dirge in his ears. That was in the first game when they blasted him out of the box and the waves rolled over the Giants.

Thursday and yesterday he slouched in the dugout and heard the roar and ring of Yankee power. He saw Melton, Coffman, Schumacher, Gumbert, Brennan and Smith blown high and dry on the beach, derelicts of the storm.

Yesterday's game was the same old story. The Giants got their customary one run. The Yankees, who made eight in each of the first two games, went into a terrific slump and only got five. The Giants brought out the Polo Grounds, back into the aisles by filling the bases in the ninth inning. But Harry Danning, Giant catcher who had one foot on the glory road, hit a pop fly to center field and Joe DiMaggio buried the Giants' hopes in his big brown glove.

Italy Aids Japs In Chinese War

Mussolini's Ambassador Pledges Sympathy, Support in Campaign of "Self-defense"

TOKYO, Oct. 9—(UP)—Fascist Italy today came to the aid of Japan which had been condemned by the world assembly of the League of Nations and the United States for her war on China, it was reported on reliable authority.

Giacinto Auriti, Italian ambassador, held a half hour conference with Kensuke Horinouchi, vice foreign minister, and afterward the Domei news agency, whose reports are regarded as authoritative concerning government matters, asserted that Auriti assured Japan of Italy's sympathy and support in Japan's "self defense" campaign in China.

'BURLAP BAG' BANDIT ACTIVE IN TIFFIN AREA

TIFFIN, Oct. 9—(UP)—A 'burlap bag' bandit who has been operating in northwestern Ohio from Lima to Fostoria obtained $35 from George Lane and $12 from Joe Wonderly in separate gasoline station holdups here early today.

A sack covered the robber's head and he carried a shotgun. He tossed a sugar sack to each attendant, ordering them to put the money in it.

OHIO STATE AND PURDUE TO HELP HIGHWAY PROBE

COLUMBUS, Oct. 9—(UP)—Two universities, Ohio State and Purdue, had agreed today to furnish members of their engineering faculties, at the request of Governor Davey, to investigate charges of irregularities in contract letting in the State Highway department.

President Edward C. Elliott, of Purdue, university, according to the governor, has agreed to send Prof. Benjamin H. Petty, professor of highway engineering, and one other faculty member, probably Prof. R. B. Crepps, specialist in material testing.

Dr. George W. Rightmire, of Ohio State, wrote the governor that the university would be glad to co-operate and that Prof. Clyde T. Morris and Prof. John C. Prior, both of the department of civil engineering, would be assigned to the proposed board of inquiry.

Participation of the Ohio State university men was conditioned by Dr. Rightmire having the board include representatives of at least two other institutions.

The governor originally had asked representatives of Michigan University to participate, but they declined.

Prof. R. L. Morrison, professor of highway engineering at Michigan, now engaged in making a traffic survey for the city of Columbus, wrote the governor to this effect, but suggested the names of several experts at several other universities who might be available.

COOKS ARRESTED AS POISON KILLS KITCHEN EMPLOYEES

WOODLAND, Calif., Oct. 9—(UP)—Two cooks from the Don L. Taylor tomato ranch were held in jail today after three ranch hands died and 13 were stricken critically ill from eating poisoned pancakes.

The poison was kept to kill black widow spiders. Apparently the cook mistook it for flour. James Hines, chief cook, and William Sherman, his assistant, were held on open charges. Deputy Sheriff Clifford Garrison refused to say whether the cooks were suspected of anything worse than negligence.

The pancakes were served to the crew of 30 workers that was quartered in temporary structures near the tomato fields. Fourteen of the workers did not like the taste of the cakes and ate only a bite or two of each. They were not affected. The other 13 ate from one to three cakes each. All were seriously ill and three near death.

PICKAWAY CLUB BOYS AND GIRLS AT DAIRY SHOW

Group Selected For Work During Season; Way Paid By Pumpkin Society

COUNTY INTEREST HIGH

25 In Party Leaving For State Fairgrounds

Twenty-five Pickaway county 4-H club members attended the National Dairy Show in Columbus, Saturday, as guests of the Circleville Pumpkin Show Society.

The group was selected for outstanding interest and activity in club work during the last season. Premiums for the Junior Fair, held in connection with the Pumpkin Show, provide for delegates from Pickaway county to attend the annual 4-H club conference. Since the National Dairy Show is being held in Columbus this year, 4-H club officials believed the funds appropriated should be used for this event. Twenty-five 4-H club members could be sent to this show for the cost of sending a few to the 4-H conference.

Many to Visit Show

Scores of Pickaway county persons will attend the show. Approximately 150 tickets have been sold in the county to date.

The show is being held on the Ohio fairgrounds. Forty-one states are represented in 4-H judging events, the largest part.

MINOR CAR WRECK RESULTS IN DEATH OF SEVEN PERSONS

GARY, Ind., Oct. 9—(UP)—A minor automobile accident, freakishly timed and placed in the path of a speeding passenger train, brought death to seven persons and serious injuries to another last night.

The automobiles collided at a street crossing at Gary city limits. The cars locked fenders and bumpers, and bounced onto the tracks of a railroad crossing. A passenger train, speeding too fast to stop, ground the cars into scrap metal and spread the debris for 400 feet.

Three men in one of the cars leaped to safety. The others were trapped.

The dead: Mrs. G. Edward Schoon, 33; Mrs. Irene Cass, 40; Robert Cass, 4, all in one car; A. C. Weathersby, Perry Spann, Roy Prince and Sam Chappa, in the other, all were Gary residents. Mrs. Cass' daughter, Judith, 18 months, was injured seriously.

Three of the men victims and the three who escaped, Frank Coleman, Oscar Shealey and James Rucker, were negroes, P.W.A. employees. On the train were 600 Civilian Conservation Corps workers bound from Camden, N. J., to California.

RAILROAD FOREMAN SAVES NEGRO LABORERS; DIES

DILLA RICA, Ga., Oct. 9—(UP)—Three men—one white and two black—were in a railroad water tank 30 feet deep, painting the walls with tar.

Suddenly there was a crackle of flame which spread with the rapidity of an explosive. A narrow ladder went up to the top of the tank and safety, so narrow that only one man could climb it at a time.

F. L. Hill, white foreman for the Southern railroad, stood back and ordered his negro assistants up the ladder. They got out without injury. Hill was overcome by fumes and was burned to death. The accident occurred yesterday.

Special Session to Consider These Measures?

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT will call a special session of congress between Nov. 8 and 16, it now is believed. It is expected that these measures will come up: hours and wages, government reorganization and establishment of eight regional planning boards similar to the Tennessee Valley Authority. And the foreign situation, including neutrality measures and armament appropriations, will be discussed constantly. The judiciary issue may not come up.

Milk Deliveries Halted, Indianapolis Suffering

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 9—(UP)—Resumption of normal milk deliveries—under police protection if necessary—was ordered today by Leon C. Collier, State Milk Control Board administrator, after collapse of peace attempts in the milk drivers dispute.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 9—(UP)—Mothers fretted over baby's milk, husbands grumbled about black coffee, and arbitrators labored without result today to settle industrial troubles which caused suspension of all milk deliveries in this city of 364,000.

"My husband didn't have his cereal yesterday, and he didn't like it a bit," sighed Mrs. Charles Clark. "He had to drink his coffee black, too."

TWO CAR THEFTS OCCUR IN COUNTY FRIDAY EVENING

Two auto thefts were reported to Pickaway county officers Friday night.

A 1927 Dodge sedan, bearing license number Y 7981, owned by Everett Beavers, Scioto township, and driven by William Beavers, was stolen in South Bloomfield. Officers said the driver had stopped to get a lunch in the village after the Circleville-Sunbury football game. The car was taken while he was in a restaurant.

The second car reported stolen was a 1925 model T Ford, missing in Williamsport. Local officers did not know the name of the owner.

REBECCA DUNN, 84, DIES AT HER HOME IN WILLIAMSPORT

Mrs. Rebecca Dunn, 84, widow of Nelson Dunn, died Saturday at 9:30 a. m. at her home in Williamsport. Complications caused death.

Mrs. Dunn was a native of Ross county, born Oct. 18, 1852, a daughter of Solomon and Rebecca Mongold. She married Nelson Dunn in 1874. He died last Spring.

Mrs. Dunn is survived by three children, Mrs. Anna Davidson, Williamsport; Mrs. Maude Donohue, Atlanta, and Harry Dunn, of Chillicothe. Four children preceded their mother in death.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Tuesday in the Williamsport Methodist church, the Rev. F. G. Strickland officiating. Burial will be in the Williamsport cemetery by S. B. Metzger.

MARY RADCLIFFE DIES IN HOSPITAL SATURDAY AT 7:30

Miss Mary A. Radcliffe, 35, prominent in Pickaway county musical and social organizations, died at 7:30 a. m. Saturday in White Cross hospital, Columbus, where she had been a patient for 10 days following a nervous breakdown.

Miss Radcliffe was a daughter of Benjamin and the late Laverna Baker Radcliffe, and a sister of William D. Radcliffe, mayor of Williamsport and a practicing attorney in Circleville.

Funeral arrangements in charge of C. E. Hill, Williamsport, have not been completed.

Miss Radcliffe was born in Williamsport, June 24, 1902. She was graduated from Deercreek township high school, and attended the Columbus School for Girls. She obtained a degree in music at Miami university, Oxford, and received an additional degree during the last Summer from Columbia university after a tour of Europe. She had been a teacher of music and art at the Pickaway township school for more than 12 years.

Miss Radcliffe was a member of the Circleville Monday club, the Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Pickaway Country Club.

COMMODITIES AND STOCKS GO DOWN IN WEEK'S TRADE

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—(UP)—Stocks, bonds and commodities declined this week.

Stocks gained Wednesday and lost in other sessions, dropping to new lows since 1935 on Friday.

Bonds made new lows since November, 1935 in the average. Cotton crashed when the government estimated the crop at 17,573,000 bales, largest on record except for 1926. Wheat led grains down.

Steel operations fell to 66.1 per cent of capacity, against 74.4 per cent a week ago. Building operations turned up temporarily. Retail trade was still above a year ago, but the rate of acceleration was slower. The same held for electricity output.

Wall street was nervous over the President's Chicago speech, fears of a special session of congress, and weakness in markets abroad.

IL DUCE SCOFFS AT PEACE PLEA OF TWO POWERS

French May Send Crack Troops Over Border to Fight Rebels

TERROR REIGN FEARED

Frontiers May Be Opened To Soldiers

LONDON, Oct. 9—(UP)—Europe headed for a new, grave crisis over the Spanish Civil war today.

Italy, in a note to Great Britain, rejected in fact if not in principle, a British-French demand for direct negotiations on withdrawal of foreign volunteers from Spain.

Coincidentally the Spanish Loyalist government in a note to Great Britain charged that Italy was embarking on a fresh campaign of aggression and terror in aid of the Nationalists.

Tension approached the electric stage here and in Paris, Britain and France, awaiting receipt of coded dispatches containing the text of Italy's note, arranged to start Monday on consultations concerning their action.

France May Send Aid

It was reported here not only that France would open her frontier to permit arms and men to go to the Loyalists through French territory but that she even might if Italy persisted in her course, "permit" men of her own crack army, Europe's most powerful, to "volunteer" for service with the Loyalists.

There was plain evidence that all the skill and coolness of statesmen might be needed to head a new drift toward war.

The Italian note was expected. But the Spanish Loyalist note was a completely new, surprise development that put at once in the open the charges circulated privately throughout European capitals planned new help to the insurgents.

The Loyalists said that they

GARRETT'S SUIT AGAINST COUNTY SET FOR DEC. 13

Suit of Ernest Garrett, Wayne township, against the county commissioners, seeking $10,150 damages for injuries received in a wreck at the bridge over Salt creek on the Tarlton-Adelphi road in October, 1936, has been assigned for trial on Dec. 13 by Judge J. W. Adkins of Common Pleas court.

Garrett's suit is one of four filed against the commissioners as a result of the wreck. Carl Wiggins, Washington township, asked $5,000. His case was heard before a jury obtained from Fayette county and a verdict was returned for the commissioners. The suits charge the bridge collapsed. Counsel for the county charged the car hit the bridge causing it to fall.

Joseph L. Eisenberg, as administrator of the estate of Walter R. Bunn, who was killed in the mishap, sued for $25,400. Mr. and Mrs. Wiggins sued for $523 for their son's injury.

ROOF'S NEW TRIAL PLEA IS OVERRULED BY ADKINS

Motion for a new trial in the case of George H. Roof, S. Pickaway street, against Wilson Hundley, York street, was overruled in common pleas court Friday by Judge J. W. Adkins.

Mr. Roof asked $15,500 damages for injuries resulting from an auto-pedestrian accident at Court and Main streets in September of 1936. A jury returned a verdict in favor of Mr. Hundley.

NATIONAL DAIRY EXHIBIT BEGINS AT FAIRGROUNDS

200 Blueblood Bulls, 300 Mighty Percherons Put On Display

PRIZED COWS STABLED 'Queen' From Wisconsin Makes Appearance

COLUMBUS, Oct. 9 — (UP) — A "million dollar herd" of 800 prize cows, whose combined annual milk output could provide every resident of a city of 500,000 with a quart of milk each daily for more than a week, munched contentedly in their stalls at the state fairgrounds today as the National Dairy Show opened for a one week "stand".

Cows ranging from 900 pound Jerseys to massive 1,500 pound Holsteins, manicured and groomed with as much care as a movie queen, vied with one another for the coveted ribbons and part of the $15,000 in prizes to be awarded during the week.

Blueblood Bull There
The cattle, including some 200 blueblood bulls, are the pick of herds throughout the United States and Canada. Each animal is a prize winner in regional competitions. About 300 exhibitors are represented.

In addition, about 300 Percherons, powerful, solid, handsome draft horses — were on display to compete in the National Percheron Show, held in connection with the dairy show. Several were shipped from Perche, France, the district where the breed originated.

Also on display in a specially constructed refrigerator was a 1,670-pound tub of butter and a 2,100-pound cheese, exhibited by the Wisconsin department of agriculture.

The largest herd of cows on display, consisting of 29 cattle, was exhibited by a Thomasville, Ga., concern.

Said to be the most valuable cow in the show is a Guernsey, Douglaston King's Olga, bought recently by Mrs. Vera Martin, Goshen, Ind., for a reputed $8,500. Another cow, Balmoral Nora, a Canadian Ayrshire scheduled to appear at the show, reportedly was bred by the late King George V of England. It is owned by W. C. Pitfield, Cartierville, Quebec.

Judging is based on production records as well as appearance. All the cattle undergo a "fitting" or training period of not less than three months. "Last minute" preparations on the exhibition grounds consist, in the case of Ayrshires and Holsteins, of washing with soap and water, "manicuring" the horns and hoofs, rubbing down with the hands or a light oil, drying and blanketing.

Because of the natural skin oil of Guernseys and Jerseys, the washing operation is omitted. Showmen explained that the oil is like a "cold cream" that is rubbed into the skin in lieu of washing.

Attending the show is Miss Alice Baker, Edmund, Wis., who was selected 1937 dairy queen of her home state.

An added attraction scheduled for noon today was a milking contest on the state house lawn in downtown Columbus. Fourteen milkmaids will compete for prizes to be awarded by Gov. Martin L. Davey.

SHOW OFFICIALS CONTINUE TO ASK ATHLETIC GROUND

Saddle horse show officials and other persons interested in the event met in the W. H. Albaugh funeral home Friday night to discuss further arrangements for the exhibition.

Entry lists for the show are being distributed. It will be held on Thursday and Friday nights with nine events for each evening.

A committee planned to meet with members of the city board of education Saturday in the hope the board would reconsider its ruling on the use of the lighted high school athletic field for the show. The board of education, at its meeting this week opposed the use of the field for the event.

Board of education members explained that an effort had been made to improve the field, and despite the lack of adequate playground space, pupils have not been permitted to play on the field. They believed it unfair to use the field for a horse show under the circumstances.

BARBER WITH IRISH

While the Rambling Irish of Notre Dame go roaming this season in their football conquests, Red Barber, ace sports announcer will ramble right along to bring play-by-play accounts of the games to listeners of WLW.

Among the stations to carry the Notre Dame games are, besides the Nation's Station, WHN, New York; WFIL, Philadelphia; KQV, Pittsburgh; WIND, Chicago; WAAB, Boston; WGAR, Cleveland, and WJR, Detroit. The games will be broadcast as a sustaining feature in the interests of football.

This year's schedule calls for the broadcast of the famed annual battle between Southern California and the Irish, which concludes the season, November 27, at Notre Dame.

The football broadcasts, scheduled to begin at 2:45 p. m., EST, will be heard each Saturday afternoon, with Red devoting the first 15 minutes to color and interviews with coaches and players. Barber has been spending much time recently, looking over the Irish squad. Last year he broadcast the Notre Dame games for WLW and in 1935 he did the Ohio State games.

MILK DELIVERY SERVICE HALTED

usually drinks two quarts of milk a day, and Mrs. Leeke supposed she'd have to get it all herself. She had read of the trouble, and anticipated the strike with extra deliveries which lasted throughout yesterday. So did Mrs. Bertha Pierson, who has two children, but Mrs. Tracy Calkins, like thousands of others, was astounded when she stepped out on her back porch yesterday and found the empty milk bottle where she had left it the night before.

The Indianapolis Milk Council ordered private home deliveries of 26 dairies suspended when strikes were called at three dairies involving 180 employees. Company officials said the situation represented a strike, union officials charged a lockout.

C. Winfield Hunt, council secretary, charged representatives of the Milk Wagon Drivers and Dairy Employees union rejected the proposal of Leon C. Collier, Mation County Milk Control administrator, for a three-man arbitration committee. The labor department announced the council rejected a request to name a committee to negotiate.

Many Demands Made
Meantime, drivers demanding a 48-hour week, daylight delivery, seniority rights, closed shop, and minimum wage scales kept their horses and trucks in garages.

Police squad cars and motorcycles, sirens screaming, escorted deliveries to hospitals, nurseries and other institutions. Motorcycle escorts were put on 12-hour duty, but called back to regular shifts, deliveries were accomplished without violence.

Only one dispute broke out during the first day and that was minor.

All the milk they wanted was available, but grocers, restaurants and mothers had to come and get it. Grocers and business establishments sent trucks to dairies for their supplies. Milk and cream was served as usual in downtown restaurants.

JACKSON, O., PLANS HUGE EISTEDDFOD ON NOVEMBER 4-5

Residents of Circleville have received programs, and many individuals and groups here are planning to enter the various competitions of the Fifteenth Annual Southern Ohio Eisteddfod and Homecoming to be held November 4 and 5 at Jackson.

The adjudicators of the competitions are: Music, Dr. Hollis Dann, New York and Wm. E. Morgan, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Literary, Rev. Irvine Dungan, Troy, Ohio; Dramatics, Miss Marian B. Hathaway, Columbus, Ohio; Welsh and Penmanship, John T. Davis, Columbus, Ohio.

Prizes totaling approximately $1200.00 are being offered in forty items of competition. Mixed choruses of from 75 to 100 voices will compete on two numbers, "Hymn to the Trinity" by Tchailkowsky and "The Miller's Wooing" by Eaton Fanning for first and second prizes of $200.00 and $100.00 respectively. Male choruses of from 45 to 65 voices will likewise compete on two numbers, "Lead Kindly Light" by Protheroe and "The Bold Bandolero" by Hodson for first and second prizes of $200.00 and $100.00. The Ladies choruses of from 45 to 65 voices also have two numbers in their competition, "Russian Cradle Song" by Katherine K. Davis and "I Love Life" by Mana-Zucca. The first and second prize winners in this event will receive $150.00 and $75.00.

Programs and information may be obtained by writing the secretary, D. Merrill Davis, Jackson, Ohio, or the president, Orin W. Davis, Jackson, Ohio.

The Christian in God's Keeping

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Sunday, Oct. 10, is Psalm 121 and Jude 1-25, the Golden Text being verse 21, "Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life.")

THE OLD TESTAMENT psalmist had a profound conviction of the keeping power of his God and ours. As he "lifted up his eyes unto the mountains" there came to him the comforting thought of the keeping power of their Creator: "My help cometh from the Lord which made heaven and earth." The God who gives stability to the majestic mountains will also give stability to his people: "He will not suffer thy foot to be moved; he that keepeth thee will not slumber. Behold, he that keepeth Israel shall neither slumber nor sleep. The Lord is thy keeper." This constant keeping extends beyond the realm of the

CHURCH TO ASK SEVEN AND HALF MILLION BUDGET

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 9.—(UP)

A $7,500,000 budget for the Protestant Episcopal church during the next three years was recommended to the house of bishops and the house of deputies at the church's triennial general convention here today.

The recommendation was contained in the report of Rt. Rev. Philip Cook, bishop of Delaware and president of the national council, presented at a joint session of the two houses.

The budget proposed would represent an increase of $1,500,000 over appropriations for the last three years. Of the proposed budget, $2,400,000 would be for 1938, $2,500,000 for 1939, and $2,600,000 for 1940.

Bishop Cook also recommended that his office be abolished and that the presiding bishop be reinstated as sole head of the national council. At present, administrative control is shared by the council president and the presiding bishop.

Bishop Cook suggested appointment of two vice presidents to assist the presiding bishop, and that the presiding bishop surrender diocesan jurisdiction. The Rt. Rev. James Dewolf Perry, the presiding bishop, now is the bishop of the diocese of Maryland.

Church Briefs

The Women's Missionary Institute for the Circleville-Chillicothe district will be held in East Ringgold on Thursday, Oct. 21. There will be an all-day service. The Rev. Walter Schutz, missionary of Africa, will be one of the speakers.

A reception for the Rev. and Mrs. T. C. Harper will be held in the parish home of the United Brethren church Monday at 7:30 p. m.

physical into the realm of the spiritual things of the soul: "The Lord shall keep thee from all evil; he shall keep thy soul. The Lord shall keep thy going out and thy coming in, from this time forth and for evermore." How necessary is this keeping care of heavenly Father, and how comforting it is to know that it is all about us at all times!

God's Keeping Us

In the New Testament Jude, the brother of James and of our Lord, expressed the same view of God's keeping of his own, as he addressed his Christian readers as "them that are called, beloved in God the Father, and kept for Jesus Christ." To this keeping God he ascribed praise thus: "Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy, to the only wise God our Saviour, be glory and majesty, dominion and power, both now and ever."

Our Keeping the Faith

But while both Old Testament and New Testament speak plainly of the keeping power of our God and of our faith, the scriptures speak as plainly of our duty of keeping the faith, and of our keeping ourselves in this faith and in the love of God. Jude's chief purpose in writing his brief letter to the church of the first century was, as he says, "to exhort them to contend earnestly for the faith which was once for all delivered unto the saints." Our Lord's prophecy concerning false teachers as "wolves in sheep's clothing" was being fulfilled in that early day as now. Jude says of them that they were "turning the grace of God into lasciviousness, and denying our only Master and Lord Jesus Christ." Against their false teachings and evil manner of life Jude exhorted: "Ye beloved, building yourselves on your most holy faith, praying in the Holy Spirit, keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life."

So the saying, "The Lord helps those who help themselves," is true in this respect, that our God keeps us as we strive to keep ourselves by keeping the faith and keeping ourselves in his love through prayer and the remembrance of his teachings.

The Christian in God's Keeping

From the time when, as a lad, in his battle with the giant Goliath, David had been kept from harm, he believed God to be his keeper, and sang, "The Lord shall keep thee from all evil; he shall keep thy soul."

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Psalm 121 and Jude 1-25.

Jude, brother of James and of the Lord, wrote a letter to the Christians of his day, in which he called them, "Beloved in God the Father, and kept for Jesus Christ."

He urged them to keep the faith which had been handed down to them from Christ through the apostles. They were to "contend earnestly for the faith" and "keep themselves in the love of God."

Jude closed his letter praying, "Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, to the only God our Saviour, through Jesus Christ our Lord, be glory, majesty, dominion, power, evermore." (GOLDEN TEXT—Jude 21)

News Notes of Interest From Ashville Community

By S. D. FRIDLEY
Phone Ashville 79

Gus Riley, a long time resident of Ashville, but now with his sister, Rose Riley, resides in Columbus, was here yesterday for repairs. He has been employed at the Federal glass factory, but by accident received an injury.

Dr. Schiff is now in his new office building, having a force assisting in the moving yesterday. Some of his equipment was moved Thursday, so "this bad luck Friday stuff" does not count. This reminds us that a couple of years ago when the waterworks contractor was to begin work, it was begun late on a Thursday evening, avoiding the bad luck that Friday might bring to him and his work.

One of the moving force said that they hoped to get the "new" lawyer, Donald Littell, in his new office, the rooms vacated by Doctor Schiff.

Many at Milking

Quite a few from this community attended today the milking contest given on the state house lawn, Columbus. Our people are hoping that Miss Winona Peters, Madison township, will win first prize for being the fastest milker of the 12 girls in the contest. This prize is a silver pitcher which will be presented to the winner by Governor Davey. And when and if grandmother in a good many years to come, should tell her grandchildren how smart she was when she was a girl, she has the goods to prove it. And this very thing can come true. But here is hoping that Winona wins. This is written six hours before the contest takes place.

New Uniforms Asked

They tell us that our high school basketballers who are real clever at the game, are on a strike and refuse to play in those out-of-date, raggedy old suits that didn't win for 'em last season. We are with the boys. Appearance, to them, means a lot when their best girls are right there seeing every move. And the boys can't look their best in those "horrid old suits". Sit down, or anything, there must be new suits.

SEEING AMERICA

PEOPLE usually travel just for fun; but when it's done intelligently, there is a lot of education in. More, perhaps, than in the life of the scholar President Roosevelt tells about, who was 45 years old and had been going to college for more than a quarter of a century, taking degree after degree.

"He was a walking encyclopedia," says Mr. Roosevelt, "but had never been outside of his home town, and he was about the most bigoted, narrow-minded, unsophisticated and generally impossible person I have ever met."

Better for most people, no doubt, than adding one college degree to another, is his recipe for an eastern youth:

"Take a second-hand car, put on a flannel shirt, drive out to the coast by the northern route and come back by the southern route. Don't stop where you have to pay more than $2 for room and bath. Don't talk to your banking friends or your chamber of commerce friends, but specialize on the gasoline station man, the small restaurant keeper and farmers you meet by the wayside, and your fellow automobile travelers.

BURNED FORESTS

DURING Fire Prevention Week, which usually starts on the anniversary of the great fire in Chicago, many facts are brought to light which make any sensible person eager to co-operate in fire-fighting and fire-prevention.

The Department of Agriculture, for example, reports that in 1936 more than 200,000 forest fires caused more than $50,000,000 worth of damage. Most of the fires occurred on unprotected areas, and nearly one-fifth of all unprotected forest land was burned over:

Smokers started 23 per cent of these fires and caused 10 per cent of the damage in 1936.

There are several conclusions: that protection pays in actual reduction of number of fires and amount of loss; that more emphasis or individual carefulness would help; and that it would require continual reforestation work merely to replace currently burned over forests.

Yes, we'll be glad to see the Duke and Duchess, secretly hoping that the nation won't be concerned exclusively with what the Duchess wears.

These women's fall hats are funny; but life would be more interesting if men, too, would show a little imagination and unconscious humor about their lids.

Some of those Wall Street bears should have it brought to their attention that the American farm income this year is $9,000,000,000, and farmers are good spenders when they have it.

Controversies in several American cities indicate that, for some strange reason or other, machine politicians don't like voting machines.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Out and about the village at an early hour, finding the streets quite deserted as they usually are now until near time for opening of the business section. One old timer remarked: "We don't open now until 8:30 or 9 with the lunch period only a scant three hours away and the day half gone before we get started." However, have heard no complaints from shoppers, and, after all, they are the ones to be served.

Exchanged friendly greetings with Charlie May, the barrister, and Scooter Roof, the horseman. Passed the time of day with Paul Robinson and dropped in on Wallace Crist. Later sat at a drygoods counter picking out cloth for use in the printery and heard a woman customer ask a clerk if she knew my dressmaker. Listened as a reporter from the East told a hard luck story of long and unsuccessful job-seeking jaunts and of immediate hunger. Mergers are throwing many of the profession out of work. Enjoyed a visit by Publisher Hunter, of Chillicothe.

Here comes Joe Adkins with a question as to whether or not I would be willing to sign an affidavit that Circleville's population is now 8,000 and an affirmative followed by scribbling. The last census gave us slightly more than 7,300, and since that time we have added industries and expanded others.

Home for a hurried dinner and then away to a meeting of the Pumpkin Show Horse Show committee, a session at which did learn of great enthusiasm and determination to provide the finest exhibit of its kind ever seen in these parts. Some of the finest show animals of a half dozen states will be here.

Then to the high school gridiron to see the Tigers bare fang and claw in rolling up a 13 to 6 victory over Sunbury. Our young athletes did themselves proud, but not too proud. Plenty of rough edges yet to be knocked off. An orchid to Jack Landrum for his method of handling the youngsters, and to him I give more credit for the victory than to the players themselves.

Sat in the stands with Charlie Mack and George Griffith, adding my cheers to theirs and the trio making as much noise as a mule in a tin stable. Well, that's part of the fun of a football game.

Received a post card from Karl Herrmann mailed on the 15th of October 1 in Paris. "Paris still the same. Am located just two squares from Champs Elysees and close to the exposition." It is Karl's first trip to France since the war when he was guest of the government on an ocean voyage.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

NOTHING ABOUT TRADE TREATIES

WASHINGTON—State Department officials are keeping very quiet about it, but although Secretary Hull seems to live, eat and breathe trade treaties, he has done absolutely nothing about them in the last nine months.

Congress has extended his power to negotiate treaties. Various diplomats have been pounding on his door demanding treaties. Prices have gone up so that consumers would welcome counteracting cheap imports. But Mr. Hull has done nothing.

He has hired a public relations expert to ballyhoo the importance of trade treaties. He has made some excellent speeches regarding them. But the real fact is that the last trade treaty he negotiated was a dinky little agreement with Salvador signed in February.

Nothing has happened since. NOTE—The diplomats who have called on Mr. Hull for trade treaties but have got nowhere, are those representing Argentina, Australia and South Africa.

FORBIDDEN GOLD

After the Supreme Court Justices had shed their robes following the opening session of the Court, Justice Roberts took three ladies to lunch at the Methodist Building across the street.

After Roberts paid the bill and was walking out with his friends, one of them opened her bag and showed him a five dollar gold piece.

Roberts, who voted to uphold Roosevelt on the gold clause, joshed: "Oh, lady, I'll tell on you! To jail you go! Have you a special dispensation from the Treasury to keep that?"

DuPONT VS. ROOSEVELTS

Marriage of one of their daughters into the Roosevelt family hasn't made much difference to the duPonts in their political opposition.

Latest list of contributions to the Liberty League shows a $7,375 contribution from Irene duPont, $5,000 from Pierre duPont, and $2,500 from Lamont duPont. Four other lesser members of the duPont dynasty contributed amounts varying from $100 to $500.

Irene duPont alone contributed $32,475 to the Liberty League's fight against Roosevelt this year, most of it having been given after the Roosevelt-duPont wedding.

GIRAFFE QUARANTINE

Not much appeared in the press about it, but one undercover campaign which Western Senators staged against Roosevelt last session was to block ratification of his Argentine Sanitary Convention, which permitted meat from areas not infected with hoof-and-mouth disease to be imported into the United States.

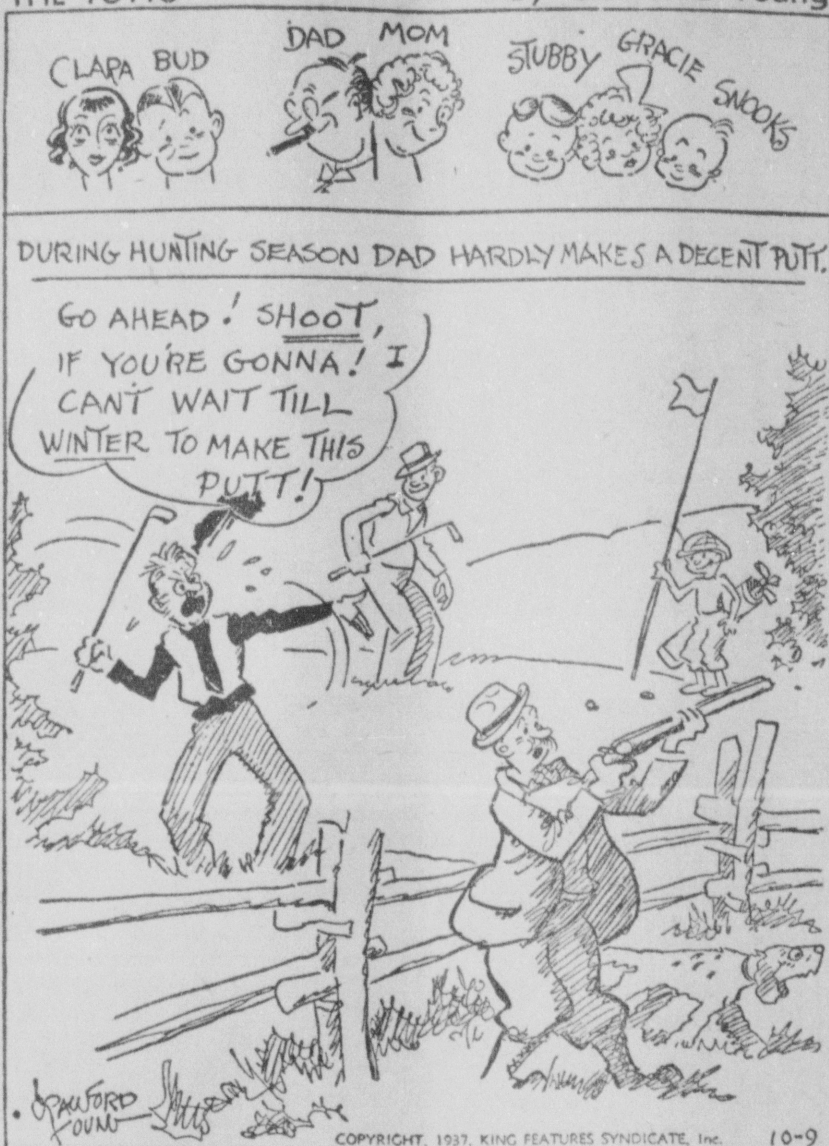

A strict embargo is maintained against all meat or cattle from infected countries, and opposition to the modifying treaty was so strong that it was pigeonholed.

Continuing this strict policy, the Department of Agriculture has now quarantined the four prize giraffes which Director William Mann has just brought from Africa for the National Zoo in Washington.

Drugs in Body Fascinating Field of Study

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE ACTION of drugs always has been a fascinating field of study. That substances which change the mechanisms of the body are used at all is rather strange and unnatural, and it always has seemed among the most mysterious of things in this strange world that their properties were ever discovered.

Here is a white powder, looking very much like any other white powder. How did it find out that it would numb pain? We call it "aspirin" and prize it for that reason.

Here is the leaf of a plant. It looks very much like this other leaf from this other plant. But you may eat the latter without any effects at all. But if you eat the first one, your eyes will dilate, your mouth will get dry and your heart will beat faster. So since those actions are useful in the art of therapeutics, we cultivate belladonna.

It would seem enough to ask of a drug that it perform one function that can be put to good use in medicine, but some drugs can be used for several distinct and useful purposes.

Iodine, for instance, is such a drug. Years ago, in fact, centuries ago, Roger of Salerno, a physician of the Middle Ages, used seaweed for goiter, and the ancient Chinese used sponges for the same purpose. It was not until the time of Napoleon, however, that the active inredient in seaweed was found. Bernard Courtois was a gunpowder manufacturer to Napoleon. The method used to make saltpeter by adding seaweed to decomposed calcium nitrate, in copper vats. The method was expensive, for in time the copper vats became discolored and finally eaten away. Courtois tried to find out why this was, and eventually isolated from seaweed a metallic product which gave off a purplish vapor. This was iodine, and it was early found that it had medicinal properties.

Iodine's Modern Use Accidental

When iodine was found to be a constituent of the thyroid gland, it was plain why it was operative in goiter. Its modern use in goiter is due to an accident. Dr. Trouseau of Paris saw a woman with the rapid heart and palpitation of goiter and wrote a prescription of tincture of digitalis for her. The next time he saw her, she was so improved that he examined the bottle of medicine again and found he had written "tincture of iodine" by mistake.

Iodine is used in many conditions—tumor formations, called gumata, are dissolved under its use. It is also valuable in asthma and arthritis.

Beside all these properties, it is one of the best antiseptics we have. Davaine, French chemist, showed, in 1873, that animal tissue proteins are not coagulated by iodine, which made it superior to bichloride of mercury as an antiseptic. It is just as lethal to germs, and diffuses through tissues better than bichloride.

For painting the skin before a surgical operation, iodine is a splendid antiseptic, first used in this way in 1909.

DEAD RECKONING

By BRUCE HAMILTON

COPYRIGHT BY BRUCE HAMILTON, RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:

Tim Kennedy graduated into homicide from the school of armchair murderers. With a lucrative dental practice and an enviable social position in a small town near London, Tim, at middle age, feels happy and secure. His father is run down by a truck, returning home a week later a physical wreck, with all her former beauty shattered. Tim loses all interest in his wife and falls madly in love with Alma Shepherd, a widow. Finally he decides that Esther must die. The next scene is the coroner's inquest.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

CHAPTER 23

"YOU HAD NOT called for help after finding your wife's body in the courtyard?" the coroner asked Tim.

"Not at first. I only wanted to get to Esther. When I found her, I called—for my man Adams. . . . But I think he must already have heard . . . the scream or the fall, or me calling to her. He seemed to come at once. He had a torch, and we looked at her, and saw that there was nothing we could do. . . . We managed to carry her into the kitchen."

"And then?"

"I sat down in the kitchen. . . . I couldn't think or move. . . . Adams did what had to be done."

There was a long pause, which the coroner broke.

"I see. . . . I think that's all we need from you about the events of that night. . . . I do not wish to prolong what must be a very painful ordeal, but there are a few other questions I must ask you. . . . You spoke about your wife's propensity to nightmares. Did these occur frequently?"

"Since her accident, frequently. . . . I believe she was subject to them in her childhood, but during all the years of our married life there had been nothing—or nothing at all serious until recently."

"Did she ever hurt herself while she was sleepwalking?"

"Once or twice. . . . It was really something more violent than sleepwalking. Early in May this year she bruised her hands against the bottom of the bedstead. And again, when we were at sea on our holiday this summer, she got out of the cabin and fell down a staircase. She barked her knuckles and twisted her ankle. Everyone was surprised she was not badly hurt."

"You attributed these disturbances to the effect produced on her mind by her accident?"

"Yes. But I also thought that digestive trouble had something to do with it. The disturbances always seemed to occur if she had eaten at all heavily an hour or two before going to bed."

"Did you not take steps to prevent her from doing this?"

"As far as I could. But it was not always easy. She was not often at her best during the day, and only developed a normal appetite toward evening. If I had made a regular practice of stopping her, she would hardly have eaten at all."

"You took advice about her condition?"

"I was in constant touch with Dr. Arkwright. I know he was worried about her. He had arranged for a consultation with a London nerve specialist. It was to have been on the following Tuesday."

"One thing more, Mr. Kennedy. You have told us that your wife was not in the best of health. Was she unduly depressed by her condition?"

"At times she was depressed."

"She was much changed physically since her accident?"

"That is true."

"She was a very strong and active woman before it?"

"Yes."

"And attractive?"

"Very much so."

"No doubt she could not get about so much after the accident?"

"She could not play games or walk long distances."

"And she had suffered certain disfigurements?"

"Yes."

"And these facts, that she had lost her bodily vigor, and some of her attractiveness, may have preyed on her mind?"

"To a certain extent, perhaps."

"Did she ever say anything to you that might suggest she was contemplating suicide?"

"Never. . . . I should like to say a little more about that. . . . There was a time when the idea occurred to me. I had a talk with Dr. Arkwright, which reassured me, and then I went into the matter with Esther herself. She satisfied me that she never had any such intention. . . . There was no occasion for it, on the grounds you suggest. She knew that no disfigurement could change my feelings toward her. . . . I want to express my absolute conviction that she never thought of committing suicide, and, in fact, did not do so."

"I see. . . . To return to the deceased's accident last year. Did she receive any financial compensation for this?"

"No. But the suit against the company owning the lorry was to have come up for hearing during the present term."

"I take it this suit now lapses?"

"Yes. I believe I am entitled to sue for personal expenses I have incurred through the accident."

"But the amount you can expect to receive is not comparable to the amount that had been claimed for damages?"

"No."

"Did the deceased carry a life insurance policy?"

"No, sir."

"Had she a considerable personal estate?"

"Nothing beyond what she may have saved out of the allowance I made her."

"Thank you, Mr. Kennedy. I don't think I need trouble you any more."

Tim returned slowly to his seat at the back of the court.

"Merivale Adams!"

The coroner's officer echoed the name, and Adams stepped briskly up to the stand.

"You are a personal servant of Mr. Kennedy?"

"I help Mr. Kennedy with his professional work, sir. I also do odd jobs about the house."

"You were sleeping at The Wilderness on the night of Sept. 29?"

"Yes, sir. I always sleep there, sir."

"What is the position of your room in relation to the spare room?"

"It is at the other end of the house, in the servants' quarters, sir. My room is at the back, but the courtyard is cut off from view by the kitchen and rooms over it, which form a projection."

"Yes, yes. Now tell me what you remember of the night of Mrs. Kennedy's death?"

"I had spent the evening in West Shilton, sir. I returned to The Wilderness at about 11. There was no light downstairs, so I concluded Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy had gone to bed."

"You had your own latchkey?"

"Yes, sir. It was part of my duties to lock up the house, unless the family was out late."

"Go on, please."

"I locked up, and went straight to bed. I woke up some time later; a sound outside woke me. I went to the window, but I could see nothing. Then I heard Mr. Kennedy's voice, calling 'Esther! Esther!'"

"Did you not hear a scream before I found you?"

"No, sir. . . . I put on my bathrobe, and picked up my electric torch, and went downstairs as quickly as I could. I was near the back door when Mr. Kennedy called me. I found him leaning over the body of Mrs. Kennedy. It was crumpled up and twisted. Mrs. Kennedy was quite unconscious. I was certain she was dead."

"Did you have any conversation with Mr. Kennedy?"

"I asked him what had happened, and he said: 'She must have fallen out of the window. I was asleep. She must have had one of her nightmares.' Mr. Kennedy helped me to carry the body into the kitchen. He was very agitated and not much help. I saw he was shivering; he was in his pyjamas. I got him an overcoat from the hall and put it round him. I said, 'You'd better get Dr. Arkwright, sir.' Mr. Kennedy said, 'You do it, Adams.' He seemed dazed."

"I went to the telephone and called Dr. Arkwright, who said he'd come round at once. Then I got some brandy from the sideboard in the dining room and took it to Mr. Kennedy. I got him to sit down, and made him drink. But he kept on shivering and kept repeating 'Esther! Esther!' and once he said, 'Why didn't I wake up? I always woke up before.' I didn't like to leave him. When the doctor came I went to wake the maids, who had slept through everything."

"And that is all you know?"

"I'll be glad to answer any more questions you wish, sir."

"I think that will do."

Adams clicked his heels and got down.

Sadie S. Marion Marries Daniel Boone, Friday

Ceremony Read at Noecker Home at 8

Before an altar improvised of Autumn flowers and foliage, interspersed with pink candles in crystal candelabra, Miss Sadie Smith Marion and Mr. Daniel Boone, of near Ashville, were united in marriage Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The informal wedding was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Noecker, of Madison township, with whom the bride and her twin-sister, Elizabeth, have lived all their lives. Miss Marion is the daughter of Mr. Route Marion, of Madison township, and the late Sarah Elizabeth Smith Marion, of Orient.

Preceding the ceremony, a program of nuptial music was played on the piano by Richard Peters, of Walnut township, a student of Capital university. The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. M. S. Pettit, of Columbus, pastor of the Madison Presbyterian church.

The bride and her sister, Elizabeth, who was her only attendant, were gowned in white crepe lace trimmed dresses which they wore when they were graduated from Walnut school in May. They wore shoulder corsages of pink rosebuds. Mr. George Gardner, of Ashville, served as best man for the bridegroom.

About 50 relatives and friends were present for the wedding and the informal supper which followed. The supper was served buffet style, the table being attractively arranged in a color theme of pink and white for the service. It was centered with a wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and was surrounded with tall pink tapers in crystal holders. Mrs. Denver Greenlee, of Sidney, and Miss Annie Boone, sisters of the bridegroom, presided at the table. Many Autumn flowers were in evidence throughout the Noecker home.

Late in the evening the new Mr. and Mrs. Boone left for a short wedding trip. They will make their home in Ashville, where Mr. Boone, who is a graduate of the Ashville schools, is associated in business with Groves and Rhoades. Mr. Boone is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Boone, of near Ashville.

Among the out-of-town guests were the Rev. and Mrs. M. S. Pettit, Dr. and Mrs. Smith Pettit and Verne Pettit, of Columbus; Dr. and Mrs. P. M. Celler, of Charleston, W. Va.

Mrs. Celler is the former Maxine Boone, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Denver Greenlee, of Sidney; Miss Jennie Boone and Miss Wilma Smith, of Huntington, W. Va. Five of the six sisters of Mr. Boone were present at the wedding.

Many gifts were presented Miss Hanley. The group attended the theatre after the dinner hour.

Wayne P-T. A. Wayne township Parent-Teacher association met Friday evening in the school auditorium. The business session in charge of Mrs. Sherman Campbell, president, was opened with group singing. Plans were discussed for Winter activities.

The first number on the program was an accordion solo by Hilakre Haacker. The pupils of the third and fourth grades sang "Sunny Goldenrod". Mr. Haacker offered another solo, and the fifth and sixth grade pupils sang, "The Cricket Band".

Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on, "Prevention of Diseases." After the song, "Woodland Sunrise," by the seventh and eighth grades, the audience joined in singing familiar songs for which Mr. Haacker played the accompaniments. Prizes for the evening were won by Donald Fee, Mrs. Roy Rittinger and Clarence Dean. The program for the next meeting, which will be in the school auditorium, Friday, Nov. 5, will be given by the 4-H club under the supervision of Mrs. Austin Dowden, leader. The members of the refreshments committee will be Mrs. J. B. Stevenson, Mrs. Harry Streitenberger and Mrs. Wayne Fee. Mrs. Clarence McAbee, Miss Sarah May and Mrs. Paul Counts arranged the pleasant affair last evening, and the members of the refreshment committee were Mrs. Roy Rittinger, Mrs. Harry Cupp, Mrs. W. A. Downing and Mrs. N. I. Mowery.

"Just Publicity, Just Friends"

THE entertainment world was in a dither when reports emanated from Hollywood that Rudy Vallee, orchestra leader, and Gloria Youngblood, Indian-blooded screen actress, were engaged and planned to wed. But the dither has fizzled, for both Rudy and Miss Youngblood say it's all publicity and that they're "just friends."

ducted by Kenneth Wertman, master, and a most enjoyable program based on the origin of the County Fair, followed under the direction of Mrs. Grace Bowman, lecturer. The first number on the program was a paper arranged by Miss Alma Glick, who in interesting detail told of the "Origin of the County Fair and Cattle Show." David Bolender followed with a reading, "Joyville County Fair." The next number on the program was a discussion by the grangers based on the question, "What do I like Best in the Pumpkin Show?" Mary Kathryn Bowman concluded the program with a reading, "The Now - a - Days Farmer."

The next regular meeting of the Washington grange will be held Friday evening, Oct. 29, at 7:30 o'clock. The time of the meeting is changed because of the conflict in dates with the Pumpkin Show, and the early hour will prevail during the Winter months.

Miss Aldire to Dance Miss Viola Mae Aldire, daughter of Mrs. Fairy Aldire, of Pickaway township, will dance at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts Saturday evening at 8 o'clock for the Columbus Music Club. She will present two modern dances.

Pickaway P-T. A. Pickaway township Parent-Teacher association will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at Pickaway school. The program will include talks by G. D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner, and Miss Margaret Hunsicker, county health nurse, several music numbers and will close with refreshments. All members are cordially invited to this first meeting of the Fall season.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA Previewed from coast to coast by more than three million persons, who paid "roadshow" prices to see it, Frank Capra's long-awaited "Lost Horizon," starring Ronald Colman, comes to the Cliftona Theatre on Sunday for its first local popular-priced engagement.

In one hundred and fourteen cities millions of movie fans flocked to these limited preview showings at advanced prices. Their verdict has been recorded in the glowing reviews that have been written about it and in the shattered box-office records the picture has left in its trial across the country.

More than two years in the making and one of the most costly pictures ever to come out of Hollywood, "Lost Horizon" is Robert Riskin's screen adaptation of James Hilton's best-selling novel of the same name. In translating the Hilton novel to the screen Mr. Riskin and Frank Capra—the men responsible for such memorable successes as "Mr. Deeds" and "It Happened One Night," to name only two—have recaptured all of the breath-taking adventure, the high romance and the awesome beauty that contributed so much to the widespread appeal of the original story.

AT THE GRAND Bette Davis was winner of the 1935 Academy gold statue for the best feminine film performance of the year. Edward G. Robinson's every picture has been great since "Little Caesar," back in 1930. Humphrey Bogart was the main figure in the recent "Black Legion" thriller, and the menacing bandit in "Petrified Forest." Each an individual Warner Bros. star—but now all working together in "Kid Galahad," an exciting story of the prize ring and those who surround it! The picture has been booked into the Grand Theatre and is scheduled to have its first local showing on Sunday. "Kid Galahad," written by Francis Wallace, was a great literary success when it first appeared as a serial in a national weekly magazine. Then it became a best-seller as a novel.

HIGH SCHOOL LIBRARY LISTS SUBSCRIPTIONS The high school library now subscribes to Business Week and Time, weeklies, and to Hygeia, Think, the Forum, Educational Screen, Scribner's, Nation's Business, Popular Science, the National Geographic, and Reader's Digest, monthlies.

These magazines are selected that the students may use them in various subjects such as social civics, history, the sciences, and English. Of these periodicals, Reader's Digest and Time are most widely read by the student body.

GYM CLASSES PREPARE FOR FALL TOURNAMENT Girls' gym classes are practicing volleyball in preparation for their annual tournament to be held during the last week of October. This year Miss Elma Rains has charge of the sophomore girls' classes, and Miss Eleanor Ryan coaches the freshmen, juniors and seniors.

Boys' physical education classes under the supervision of Coach Jack Landrum played touch football this week. The rules of the game are the same as those of regulation football with the exception of tackling.

ZAENGLEIN PLANS ORGANIZATION OF BEGINNERS' BAND

A beginners' band will be organized after Pumpkin Show by C. F. Zaenglein, director of instrumental music. The first meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 1, at the high school.

The purpose of this first meeting will be to help those who are undecided in choosing an instrument, also to advise which instruments are needed to make the band a complete unit. Arrangements will be made to have a local dealer present to display some instruments at the first meeting. There will be also a list of persons who have used instruments for sale. The band owns a limited number of instruments which can be furnished to those who do not have the means to purchase their own.

It will be greatly appreciated if anyone owning an instrument would lend it to the school. Those needed to form the beginners' band are as follows: B flat clarinets, E flat alto saxophone, B flat tenor saxophones, trumpets and cornets, E flat alto horns, E flat bass, BB flat bass, slide trombones, bass and snare drums and xylophone.

It is the opinion of C. F. Zaenglein that now is the opportune time to begin instrumental music. "The boy or girl who plays a musical instrument will gain a valued experience by participating in this social activity," said the director.

Many pupils have already put in their applications. Application slips may be obtained from any teacher in the city. Mr. Zaenglein will be glad to meet parents who desire interviews any time during the Open House day, Friday, October 29.

NEW SOCIAL ROOM SPEAKS FOR SELF

"Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord." — Well maybe not that, but it certainly has been somewhat like it in the past week.

I am the social room on the ground floor. You know me — the one with all the folding doors — you're not allowed to open, but never-the-less you do, with the stage at one end and a recitation room at the other.

What I meant by that statement up there is that had you been with me in the last five days and especially nights, you certainly wouldn't have been bored.

Three initiations count them, the E. M. S. the Jr. Girl Reserves and the Sr. Girl Reserves. Three, were held within my walls and I'm expecting another, the Hi-Y, before the next week or two is over. Someone certainly had a charming idea when they thought of me.

Not only am I the thing for initiations but when my doors are all thrown open, the floors are waxed and the lights are low, the hall and I just melt into one big happy family and become ideal for dancing and parties. Then too, with the small, so efficient kitchen practically holding hands with me there is really nothing to be desired.

Some kind, considerate soul even thought of putting a seat along the wall at the end of the hall so that the chaperones could rest their weary feet while we dance merrily on.

Everything considered, I know I'm going to have a big time not only this year but in years to come. My popularity, I know, will increase.

All in all, I think C. H. S. is lucky to have me. Don't you agree?

SMALLEY NAMES HI-Y COMMITTEE

At the third regular meeting of the Hi-Y Club President Joe Smalley appointed committees for the following four meetings. On the program committee are Dave Jackson, chairman, Phillip Gordon and Bob Lane. The church committee is Art Rooney, chairman, Dick Mader and Hildeburn Martin. The finance committee is Lewis Cooper, chairman, W. H. Nelson and Bob Owens. Appointed on the auditing committee are Bob Lane, chairman, Dick Mader and Bob Owens. Bill Stebleton is making a bulletin board for the club. At this meeting plans were made for a hayride which the organization will sponsor in the near future.

MARIONETTES IN 5 ONE-ACT PLAYS FEATURE OF SHOW

Interviewed at his Marionette Theatre at 125 East Main street, Thursday, Philip Moore discussed plans for the presentation of five one-act plays which he and Jim Moffitt will give on October 20th, 21st, 22nd and 23rd as a feature of the Circleville Pumpkin Show.

The plays to be given, "King Uggerrugger," "Three Heads in a Well," "Rip Van Winkle," "Hansel and Gretel," and the "Concert Party," have been re-written and adapted by Philip Moore.

The performers, 35 hand-carved marionettes, are also Philip's clever work. The stage, the stage settings, the lighting effects have been ably done by Jim Moffitt.

The program offers an abundance of comedy, pathos, drama, and satire. The performance will be continuous from 2 p. m. until midnight each day.

The Red and Black wishes to congratulate Philip Moore and Jim Moffitt for giving the high school and the town the opportunity to see this skillful and authentic reproduction of an ancient Oriental and European art.

INDIAN AUTHORITY GIVES LECTURES

Wilmer E. Cochran, noted authority on the American Indian, will give lectures to the high school and grade students on Wednesday, October 12, in the auditorium.

Mr. Cochran has spent twenty-five years in the study of the customs, habits, and history of the red men. He was for twelve years a leader of the Boy Scouts and has written and directed Indian pageants.

An Indian village will be constructed on the stage to illustrate his lectures. He will talk to the high school assemblage at 8:30 Wednesday morning and to the Corwin grades at 9:45.

His talks will concern the religious life, the sign language, pictographic tales, tribal superstitions. Small contributions from the high school and grade pupils will finance the lectures.

EIGHTH GRADERS SHOW ENTHUSIASM

A product of the rivalry existing between the Green and Gold factions in their fight for supremacy in the magazine contest is the song "Fight the Greens" composed this week by two eighth graders, Stewart Martin and Jack Simson.

Using the tune and theme of "Fight the Team," Martin and Simson, both golds, led classmates in the song— "Fight the greens across the hall."

Show them the Golds are here. Set the hall reverberating with a mighty cheer. Gold, Gold, Gold! Come on kids, and let's get ahead. Make their green faces get very red.

Hail, hail the Golds are here, and we'll win that ol' radio yet!"

PATROL IN ACTION

Principal Robert Terhune appointed William Koehensparger captain of the school safety patrol. His assistants are John Montgomery and Cecil Pritchard. Joe Hickey is substitute. These boys direct traffic at the intersection of Corwin and Court streets while grade schools are being dismissed.

PAY PROCEEDS ON ATHLETIC FIELD FLOODLIGHT DEBT

Stooges launched a campaign on Thursday to boost enthusiasm and attendance for the Circleville-Greenfield football game to be held on the home gridiron under the lights on October 29.

Members of this organization are canvassing the town today—their goal the sale of 1000 Booster tickets of admission at one dollar each. The entire proceeds of the sale will go toward paying the debt owed the Circleville Athletic Improvement Company, Limited, for expense incurred in erecting the flood-lighting system.

At the luncheon meeting of the Rotary club on Thursday, Dave Jackson in a short speech asked the help of Rotarians in making the Booster ticket sales campaign a success.

Virgil Cress, Stooze adviser, asked for cooperation of all Circleville citizens in letters to the city's leading business man.

Since the Greenfield game is the Home-coming game, the new athletic field will be dedicated at that time.

Patrons and friends will be welcomed at an "Open House" in the new school addition.

The committee in charge of the open house is Miss Hazel Palm, chairman, Mrs. Robert Bower, Mrs. Brunelle P. Downing, Miss Marguerite Fohl, Miss Sophia Parks, Miss Norma Ross, Miss Eleanor Ryan, Robert Jewett and Robert Terhune.

GOLD TEAM STILL LEADING IN RACE NEAR COMPLETION

Thursday, the eighth day of the Circleville high school magazine campaign, found the Gold team still leading the Green.

The Golds have been in the lead since the contest began.

Outstanding among the student salesmen is Margaret Boggs. According to Friday's report Margaret has sold more subscriptions than any other pupil. Also deserving of mention are the following who have sold five or more subscriptions: Betty Bach, Glenn Barnhart, William Burgett, Ruth Clark, Jack Crawford, Dorothy Dresbach, Junior Geib, Bob Goeller, Mary Hays, Loise Madison, Betty May, Bob Moon, Mary K. Pile and Eleanor Weaver.

Kenneth Lea's home room, 103, has already more than doubled its quota. The quota of each room is set for a one dollar sale for every pupil.

Instead of closing last Thursday, October 8, as planned, the contest has been extended over the week-end. Monday 3:45 is the deadline.

FOUR WIN PLACES IN STOOGE CLUB

Four boys, Tye Davis, Carl Garman, Bill Heffner and Clarence Thorne, Jr., were honored by the Stooze club in being elected members of the organization at a meeting held on Tuesday evening at the home of Dave Jackson.

The club which limits its membership to twenty boys now numbers nineteen. Laddie Goeller will host at the next meeting of the club.

JUNIOR GROUP VOTES

The Junior Girls' Glee Club, freshmen and sophomores, met on Wednesday to install a new cabinet. Jane Paul and Jane Klingensmith will act as librarians. Thelma Winner will serve as secretary-treasurer. The club voted to elect no president or vice-president. A complete list of members of both the Junior and Senior glee clubs will be published when membership is complete.

RED AND BLACK GRIDDERS DEFEAT SUNBURY 13 TO 6 AS FATHERS WATCH

JENKINS COUNTS TOUCHDOWNS FOR TIGER SQUAD

Both Local Markers Come In First Half After Line Smashes

SUNBURY INVADERS LIGHT

Owen Crosses Goalline In Third Period

Circleville high school griders played a game for their dads Friday evening to win a 13-6 decision from a light but scrappy Sunbury team. Fathers of the boys, introduced between halves, wore their son's numbers on their backs.

The Tigers scored in the first and second periods, and Sunbury pierced the defense of the much heavier team in the third period. Both Tiger scores were tallied by Marvin Jenkins, freshman fullback. He smashed center from the one-foot line for the initial counter three minutes after the kickoff. The leather had been carried there by Paul Walters, who returned a punt from the 30 to the 5, and by Woodward who smashed for four yards. Paul Walters' dropkick was wide.

The second counter came a short time later, in the second period, when Jenkins found a hole a mile wide in the right side of the line and drove over from the nine-yard stripe. He smashed the center for the extra point.

Other Threats Lost
The other scoring threats went by the boards, one on a faulty selection of plays after the Tigers had carried the ball to the Sunbury eight-yard marker on line plays. A pass into flat unprotected territory was called and Steeman intercepted it on the eight. He ran the ball to the Red and Black 29-yard line before the speedy Frank Woodward overtook him.

The other touchdown was lost in the last minute of play when Martin Walters broke through the left side of the Sunbury line and traveled from the 36 to the invaders' goalline only to be called back when Referee Chick Pearce ruled Walters in motion before the ball was snapped.

Owen scored from the 9 for Sunbury.

The Red and Black outplayed the Sunbury outfit most of the time, but was unable to run up a score. The spirit of the Tiger squad was the best that it has shown this Fall. The team goes to Mt. Vernon next Friday for a night game. The Knox county aggregation has one of its best teams in years.

First downs Friday evening were: Circleville, 12; Sunbury, 6. Dads introduced were Frank Woodward, A. Hulse Hays, Harry Heffner, John W. Walters, George Fickardt, B. F. Harden, Hilbert Martin, Charles Owens, Deck Arledge, Martin Walters, Lewis Jenkins, Earl Price, Lawrence Liston, Dr. G. D. Phillips, (substituting), Dr. J. J. Rooney, Elmer Stetelton, Dr. H. D. Jackson, Howard Orr, C. F. Zaenglein, Elmer Merriman, Clarence Thorne, and Charles Garner.

MONGREL CANINE ADOPTS PEN AS OWN RESIDENCE

LANSING, Kas. (UP)—Fifteen years ago a mongrel pup wandered up to the gates of the Kansas State prison here. A team of horses, pulling a wagon, emerged and the pup elected to follow them.

Today, the dog still accompanies the horses everywhere. It sleeps with them in their stalls at the prison barn. The dog is blind in one eye now, badly scarred from numerous fights and has acquired the name of Peedie.

Peedie is old and rheumatic and can't trot with the horses, but he goes on trips with them, anyway. The dog rides in the driver's seat. Peedie is not like other dogs. He doesn't mingle with the dogs which wait for release of their convict masters outside the gates and he keeps them from coming near the horses. Peedie used to be self-sustaining, rustling his own food, but he's too old for that now and is fed with scraps from the prison dining room.

BARBER ON JOB 67 YEARS
NORTHFIELD, Minn. (UP)—Sixty-seven years at the tonsorial profession is the record of H. Talford Budd, Northfield, who believes he is the oldest active barber in the country. Nearing 80 years of age, Budd, or "Tal" as he is known to his friends, is at his chair every day.

Greenfield, Tiger Foe On Oct. 29, Wins Contest, 50-6

GREENFIELD, Oct. 9.—Greenfield McClain High School, led by Fullback Jackson, Friday night defeated Hillsboro High, 50 to 6. Jackson scored six of McClain's eight touchdowns. The others were registered by Garman and Polard.

Hillsboro's only score came in the third period when Lamb tossed a 10-yard lateral to Bill Stanforth, who ran 75 yards to the goal line. McClain made 27 first downs, compared with Hillsboro's three.

The game Friday evening the McClain-Hillsboro series, which began in 1903, at 13 victories each. Three contests were ties. This game was McClain's first in the South Central Ohio League.

A record crowd of 1,500 was present. Greenfield invades Circleville on Oct. 29.

BUCKEYES GIVEN EDGE OVER U.S.C. IN LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 9.—

(UP)—With strong national championship aspirations a rugged Ohio State eleven today attempted to take another hurdle of its stern early season schedule when the University of Southern California was encountered at Olympic stadium.

Ohio State, on the basis of victories over Texas Christian and Purdue, was a heavy favorite over the Trojans. Southern California won from the College of the Pacific and was beaten by Washington.

The odds in favor of the Bucks were based principally on the outstanding line of the Big Ten representatives. Ohio State has not had a point scored on it this season.

The game is broadcast at 5:15 p. m.

POOR FALSE CARDS

THERE ARE times when a false-card, intended to fool the opponents, gives them more information than if the natural play had been made. It is unwise, therefore, to get the habit of always trying to toss off high cards on tricks taken by the defenders. It can be better in some situations, to offer a complete lack of information rather than a strained effort at misinformation.

3 and 8. At only one table did the South player put his club Q on the first trick.

This caused the man in the West, Edgar F. Tierney of Springfield, Mass., to put on his "thinking cap". Since the deuce had not appeared, he knew that his partner did not have three cards. If he had, they would have been the 8, 3, and deuce, in which event his partner would have played the deuce. East therefore had either a doubleton consisting of the 3 and deuce, and was starting a high-low, or else the 3 was a singleton. Consequently, West knew positively that the declarer still held the club 8 and possibly the deuce.

With this dependable reading, Mr. Tierney laid down the club A and then followed with a third club, which his partner ruffed. The diamond A thereupon set the contract.

South opened the bidding on this deal with 1-Heart, which West raised to 2-Hearts and South took to 4-Hearts. That was the standard bidding at every table of a duplicate tournament, and also the same opening lead was made in every case, the K of clubs.

In every instance but one, the South player put the deuce on the opening trick and West then shifted to the diamond J, as he felt that his partner's three spot was probably the bottom of a holding which contained also the

FEDERAL HOUSING OFFICIALS ADVISE THOSE DEVELOPING SUBDIVISIONS

Land Planning Section Willing to Give Help

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 9—Increased activity is being shown throughout the country in the subdivision field, and Federal Housing Administrator Stewart McDonald points out that the advice of the land-planning section is available to developers and operative builders.

Projects on which advice or assistance are desired should be submitted in the early stages of development so that any alterations in plans may be made easily. This is particularly important when large-scale housing projects are being considered, or when a new area is to be developed.

Mr. McDonald emphasizes the fact that the Federal Housing Administration issues commitments to insure mortgages only when the application is submitted by an approved mortgagee, and that any assistance or advice given by the land-planning section does not indicate that the Housing Administration will issue a commitment for the insurance of a mortgage on the property.

This consultation service is offered for the purpose of analyzing the proposed development and offering suggestions, which, if followed, will raise the standard of the subdivision and assure a sound neighborhood.

TAX BURDEN EXERTS INFLUENCE ON AREA

The tax and assessment burden to which properties in an area are liable exerts a tremendous influence on the future of any residential area. In the case of an undeveloped area, the Federal Housing Administration determines what the approximate burden will be before issuing a commitment to insure a mortgage.

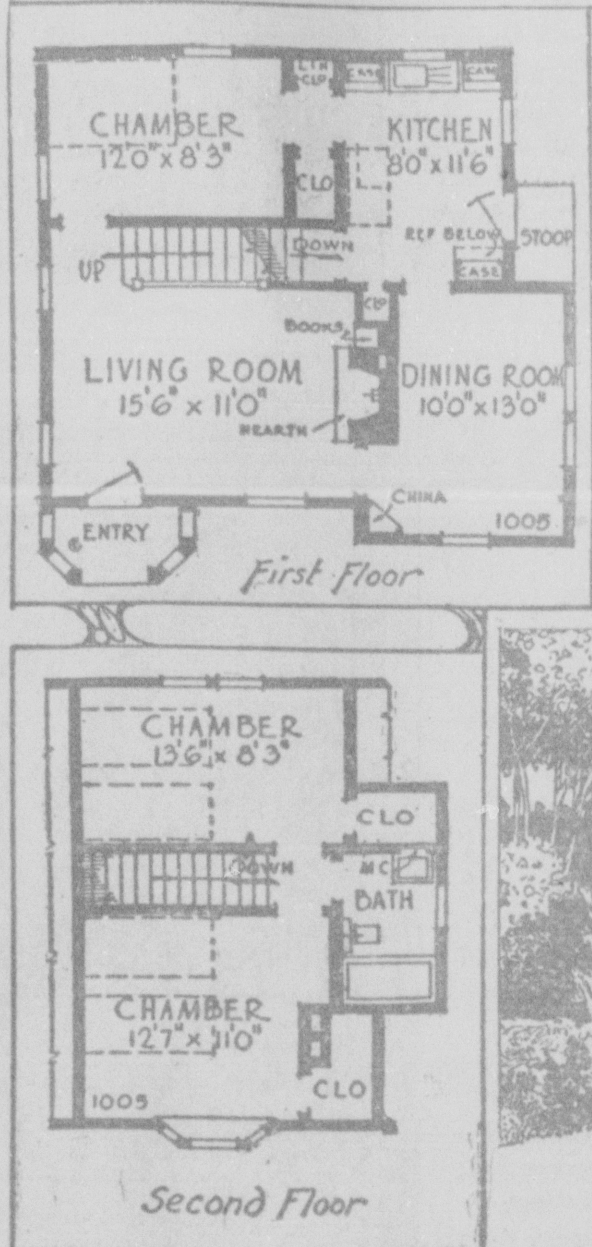

GOOD PLANNING EFFECTS SAVING IN SMALL HOME

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The sacrifice of materials or construction standards is false economy, particularly in the building of a low-cost home, according to Howard P. Vermilya, Director of the Technical Division of the Federal Housing Administration.

He points out that definite savings can be effected through the choice of an economical plan, the use of stock sizes in lumber, doors, windows, and other millwork and the coordination of a working schedule at the site that avoids nonproductive hours. "The difference in cost between sound framing and the use of inferior materials," Mr. Vermilya says, "is a minor saving compared to the possible reduction cost that may be brought about by intelligent planning."

"An economical plan," Mr. Vermilya explains, "is one with little waste space in relation to the floor area, simple and straightforward, avoiding unnecessary corners in exterior walls or partitions, with simple roof lines so designed as to use stock sizes and standard lengths of materials and with heating and plumbing lines so concentrated as to avoid waste."

Architect Gives Help To Builder

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 9 The services of an architect when a new home is to be built protects the owner and the builder, according to Howard Leland Smith of the Federal Housing Administration.

He pointed out that in many cases the term "jerry-builder" is unjustly employed. Frequently the owner of a home does not have a proper understanding of building values and, in the belief that he is driving a shrewd bargain, insists that the contractor meet a certain figure if he wants to work. The builder is forced to use second-class material, and when the shoddiness becomes apparent, the owner complains that the work was not well done.

An architect who supervises the design and construction of a house tells the owner approximately what might be expected for a given amount. When the size and style of a house is decided on and the contract is let, the architect supervises the work and sees that the owner obtains what the plans and specifications call for. In this way the contractor is protected against the charge of not having done the work properly or not having used the specified materials.

ADJOINING KITCHEN, BOTH FOR ECONOMY

The Technical Division of the Federal Housing Administration points out that in one-story houses the greatest economy can be achieved by planning kitchen and bathroom as adjoining rooms, but with sufficient space in the separating wall to carry the necessary plumbing lines. Through this combination of rooms and by placing the fixtures in the adjoining rooms along the common wall, only one vent stack is required for all the fixtures, and the lengths of drainage and water lines are reduced to a minimum.

If a new home is being financed under the terms of the Insured Mortgage System of the Federal Housing Administration, this same protection is afforded to a limited degree. Design and materials must conform to the contract plans and specifications as well as comply to the Housing Administration's property standards and minimum construction requirements. Three architectural inspections are also made during the course of construction, further assuring the home owner that he is receiving the value to which he is justly entitled.

F H A CONSIDERS RATE OF DECLINE THROUGH NATION

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A superficial examination of residential areas in any American city reveals the fact that, with practically no exception, such districts decline in desirability with the passage of substantial periods of time. This factor is taken into consideration when a mortgage is under consideration for insurance by the Federal Housing Administration.

It is possible that the rate of such declines will generally be slower in the future than it has been in the past, because the rate of population growth in the United States is, and has been, on the decline. This factor has been one of the main causes of the loss of desirability which residential districts have experienced.

As new population comes into a given region, new residential areas spring up within communities that have already been established. People living in the older districts rent or sell their old homes and acquire new ones in the newer areas. In this manner the older districts gradually lose the aspects of owner-occupied communities and take on the aspects of tenant-occupied districts. They remain desirable only to families whose social status or standards of living are lower than the original owner's. This process of change in occupancy is accompanied by a decline of desirability and value.

A SIX-ROOM FRAME HOUSE IN THE English cottage style is a type of architecture that will appeal to many who wish an inexpensive home with modern and convenient room arrangement.

The house pictured is such a one, and contains on the first floor, besides living room, dining room and kitchen, a downstairs bedroom.

This feature will be especially appreciated when there is illness in the home, or when a maid is employed. If not needed for a bedroom, it can easily be converted into a study, library or den, and still is a useful and desirable convenience.

Two large bedrooms, each with its closet, and a bathroom, occupy the second floor of this house. Size of the main building is 24 by 24 feet size over all, 28 by 29 feet. Total cubic contents, 15,900 cubic feet.

STANDARDS SET FOR SMALL HOME IN 32 DISTRICTS

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Areas served by 32 insuring offices of the Federal Housing Administration in 23 states now have minimum construction requirements in effect which must be complied with before insurance will be granted by the Housing Administration on residences built under the Insured Mortgage System.

Work is continuing of establishing such minimum construction requirements in the remainder of the Housing Administration's insuring office areas, and it is expected to be completed within a year.

Copies of the requirements for the individual 32 insuring office areas are available at local Housing offices where the regulations are in effect. They are: Jamaica, N. Y.; Baltimore, Md.; Boston, Mass.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Hartford, Conn.; Newark, N. J.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Pittsburgh, Pa.; White Plains, N. Y.; Atlanta, Ga.; Birmingham, Ala.; Columbia, S. C.; Greensboro, N. Questions and Answers

Q. Can an administrator or executor of an estate secure a Federal Housing Administration insured loan on houses in his custody?

A. Yes; if the estate is of sufficient solvency to assure meeting the regular monthly payments.

Q. Can a trust estate secure an insured mortgage loan on houses that are owned by the estate?

A. Yes; provided such houses are approved in the regular manner and the estate can show a credit standing sufficient to guarantee the regular monthly payments.

Q. Is it possible to get a Federal Housing Administration appraisal of my property without submitting a regular application for a mortgage through a bank?

A. No. The Federal Housing Administration makes no appraisals or examinations of any character except on regular applications for insurance of a loan when submitted in the customary manner by the lending institutions. Q. Will the amount of interest in my payments on an insured loan be deductible on my Federal income tax?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you think that if I get an insured loan on my home it will help my credit standing?

A. Yes; because anyone getting a Federal Housing Administration insured loan must have and maintain good credit performance.

DOUBLE OUTLETS FOR WIRING CONVENIENCE

The primary requirement of any electrification system is to provide artificial lighting or service as near as possible to the point where it is needed. For this reason in small, low-cost houses the Federal Housing Administration recommends the use of an ample number of double convenience outlets so that movable lamps and appliances may be utilized rather than permanently placed fixtures, thus permitting a system of great flexibility.

F.H.A. CAUTIOUS WITH ITS FUND INVESTMENTS

The Federal Housing Administration is the custodian of funds accumulated from insurance premiums. Therefore, it must eliminate, so far as possible, the risks to which these funds may be subjected. The mortgage-insurance facilities of the Federal Housing Administration are made available only to those properties whose prospects of continued utility are sufficiently good to give assurance of their enduring as sound investments throughout the life of the mortgage.

will I be credited with same as part of my down payment?

A. You will be credited the actual cost you paid for the lot, provided the Federal Housing Administration valuator appraises the lot for as much as you paid for it.
